

Law enforcement guide to COVID 19 enforcement

As the state, county, and cities begin the process of re-opening, it is important that law enforcement have an understanding as to what is and is not permissible in their jurisdiction. The list is continuously changing. At a minimum, law enforcement officers should know that in San Diego County, social distancing and face coverings whenever a person is in a business or within six feet of another person who is not a member of their family or household are required. Additionally, some businesses are not allowed to operate while others may only operate with modifications and restrictions.

Due to the large number of industries that are now reopened, this training bulletin focuses on what remains closed, and what is most recently opened. In attempting to determine whether a violation is occurring, a law enforcement officer should look to see if the activity is one of low risk to the spread of COVID-19, and whether it is being conducted with the minimum requirements set by the County of San Diego, and the State of California to help prevent the spread of the virus.

What's closed?

- Public events and gatherings
- Indoor playgrounds such as bounce centers, ball pits, and laser tag
- Live theater and Live audience sports
- Saunas and Steam rooms
- Nightclubs
- Concert Venues and Convention Centers
- Theme parks and Festivals

What's open?

In addition to all of the industries identified in the previous bulletins, the newest industries that can operate with modifications in San Diego County include the following:

- Personal services, including nail salons, facial salons, cosmetology, tattoo parlors, piercing parlors, therapeutic massage, and body waxing

Drive in activity:

Drive in activities, including protests, church services, graduation ceremonies, and entertainment, are permissible as long as all public health precautions and social distancing are maintained and only members of the same household are in the same car.

Outdoor Activity:

People can go for a walk, exercise, and participate in healthy activities as long as they maintain a safe physical distance of six feet and gather only with members of their household.
